Plans Agreements Among Shipyards to End Enticing

Uniform Scale for Pacific Coast Plants Likely to Be pplication of the principle to other inustries in all parts of the country has seen considered, however, by officials who have observed the serious possibilities arising out of competition of employers for workmen in war industries. Buyers for workmen in war industries.

It is considered certain that if ship-builders agree not to bid against rival companies for men steps will be taken to secure similar agreements in other

Although Mr. Hurley has not decided hen or where he will call the first con-rence, it is probable that it will be on the Pacific coast, where a Seattle shipwage scale on companies making lower profits.

Labor men do not look with entire favor on the general plan, but it was said that the force of their opposition would depend on whether guarantees were given that their privileges to de-mand higher wages or strike would not be abridged. They recently received ports from British labor leaders on the workmen from one plant or industry to her is practically forbidden. It has suggested that although the Amercan Government has no such power a similar result could be obtained in this country by voluntary agreements of em-

Developments in the Pacific coast situation to-day indicated that the problem there can be solved permanently only by a uniform scale for shipyards of the entire coast. At San Francisco striking iron workers were reported as insisting on the high rate paid by the one Seattle le Extended. The regular officers class of the First Field Artillery, New York National Guard, began Thursday night at the armory at Broadway and Sixty-eighth fence.

H. Ryan of the First Artillery has charge, and other officers, both from the regulars and the National Guard, will assist him.

The regiment, which took the place of its namesake of the old guard that is now in Federal service, wants men for the ranks and the non-commissioned officers. Two full batteries, serving as infantry, are guarding the Aqueduct, and other batteries will be sent out when formed.

Last Park Concert To-night.

The series of concerts which have taken place at Central Park on the shores of the take will be completed tonight. Last night the Seventy-first Regiment Band was the main attraction, and to-night the band from Kismet Temple. Brooklyn, will do the honors. The brilliant illumination that marked the Song and Light Festival will be repeated tonight, as it was last night. The concerts are under the auspices of the Mayor's Committee on National Defence.
